Fight at Twenty-Four Streams.

Five British Killed.

A Boer commando 5,000 strong has penetrated the Berg river valley on the coast, northwest of Cape Town.

The British had a brisk fight with Boers at twenty-four streams. Capt. Bellamy and four others were killed.

The British having surprised several times the Boers are now in the habit of shifting their camp after long night marches to arrive at their Boers gone. The British columns penetrating Orange River valley from the railroads have found maize on fresh plowed lands, the Boers making off with their approach and returning when the columns pass on. The herds on the high hills still seem to be unmolested. The Boers are driving on cattle, and meat stored in out-of-the-way places.

IMMIGRATION.

There is no question that the results of Canada's immigration efforts in Great Britain during recent years has been to say the least disappointing. We have an expensive high commissioner in London, an immigration agent at Liverpool and various other immigration agencies in different parts of the three kingdoms. We spend a great deal of money on British immigration and get very little of it. Many reasons are assigned for the present small flow of British immigrants to Canada, one giant mind on this side of the Atlantic suggested that the supply of Britons for immigration purposes was exhausted. Another equally superstitious intellect on the other side of the water still more recently suggested that the reason was that Britons preferred to remain in the temperate zone.

Canada is what it is because of British immigration in the earlier years of last century, when the population of the Islands was not nearly as large as it is now. Canada was in the temperate zone then as it is now. But conditions have changed, and methods must change with them. The returns show that although the population of the heart of the empire is constantly increasing, there is a great outflow of population year by year, sometimes larger and sometimes smaller but never ceasing. This flow is chiefly directed to the United States, to Australia and to South Africa. How to get a fair share of it directed to Canada is the question. In the first place we only want that part which is suited to the conditions here. Immigration unsuited to the country is worse than none. The scheme most likely to meet the case would seem to be that being handled by R. Adamson, who brought out a party of Scottish farm laborers to Manitoba during the summer and is now returning home. He may say that for an agent to cross the ocean twice to secure the coming of fifty or a hundred young men is to some extent a waste of effort. But not so much of a waste as the keeping up of an expensive immigration staff year after year without any results at all. The advantage of the plan being followed by Mr. Adamson is that neither time nor money are wasted on unsuitable men. The agent knows the kind of men he wants, and having interested them he stays with them until they are placed in their new surroundings. In this way every stroke counts. And better have a hundred men suited to the country by temperament, experience and ambition than a thousand who would be a drain upon it. Expensive offices and officers, advertising pamphlets and lettered notices do not all very well in their way, but they should be aided and followed up by a personal canvass. It should not be forgotten that the men who are wanted at home are the men who are easily induced to change his place of abode is the least good whatever change he makes. The man who will not leave the Old Country unless he has a pretty sure thing in the new is the man whom the new country wants most. And a personal canvass by a practical man is the only way to get such men. That they can be got the success of Mr. Adamson's first effort proves. It may be mentioned that the large Scandinavian settlements near Wetaskiwin are the work of one agent, C. O. Swanson, who conducts his business in that way. He canvasses the people he wishes to come, collects them into parties, accompanies them to their new homes and sees them located before he leaves them. Mr. Swanson has secured more settlers from the States for Canada by his personal efforts during the past seven years than the whole Canadian immigration staff employed in the British islands have. There is no doubt from the experience of Mr. Adamson that like methods in the British islands would produce like results.

There were in all 82 teachers in attendance at the convention by far the largest attendance of any session of the association.

The programme of the opening day was brought to a most enjoyable conclusion by a social evening in Honourable's Hall, at which the teachers of the local staff entertained their visitors. The entertainment took the form of a conversational one and was enlivened by a programme of excellently rendered vocal and instrumental music and by a few short addresses. Refreshments were served during the evening refreshments were served and nothing was left undone by the hosts of the evening to make the occasion of thorough enjoyment. The proceedings were opened by the chairman, Mr. John Ross, principal of the school, who briefly, on behalf of the reception committee, welcomed their guests. As there were many persons who were not acquainted with actual strangers to each other an ingenious idea in the form of a conversational topic card was provided. Six topics for conversation were indicated on each topic which was discussed during a promenade to the music on the piano. Mrs. Jellett, Miss Jewett, Miss McLean, Miss McLean, Mr. and Mrs. Bower kindly assisted at the piano and several marches were also rendered by the orchestra. Miss Bellamy, sang "Parting" and "Home Sweet Home". A short address on "The part education should play in the advancement of the West" was given by Frank Oliver, M. P. "Loving heart true to you" was very successfully sung by Mr. and Mrs. Jones. Miss Anna Grange, a violinist, gave an excellent rendering of Handel's "See the conquering hero comes" followed by a selection from Mozart both of which were much applauded and were keenly enjoyed. During a short intermission refreshments were served, after which the programme was continued by a cleverly rendered reading by Miss Estelle one of the Uncle Remus series "The wonderful baby." Mr. Bryan, school inspector, gave a number of selected answers given by candidates for certificates, which were much enjoyed. Rev. H. A. Gray, sang "The Two Cities" with good effect. The national anthem, sung by the assemblage, brought the evening to a close. The programme was by far the most largely attended and most successful of held by the association. It served to introduce to each other members of the association and fraternal organizations, and widen their knowledge and acquaintance in each a greater interest in their mutual work. Rev. D. G. McQueen, of the Presbyterian church, Rev. H. A. Gray, Episcopalian, and Rev. Father Jan, of the Jesuits, were present during the evening.

The day's programme was carried through as announced. In addition to the reading of the different papers and the singing of hymns, there was the matter of an increase in the school library and election of officers for the next term were up for consideration. As to the former it was decided to purchase books and establish a branch library at Wetaskiwin, Leduc, Fort Saskatchewan and probably another point, from which branch the books could be distributed to the schools in that locality.

In the afternoon the balloting for and election of officers took place with the following result:

President, W. Ramsay.

Vice-presidents, Misses Stewart and Timney, Messrs. Sparling and Dwyer. Sec-treas., Miss Currie, Strathcona.

The convention closed at 5 o'clock Tuesday afternoon and on Wednesday the teachers expected to resume their labors in their different fields.

MANITOBA YIELDS.

Neogawa Press: Thrashers returns are being published by many provincial papers and it is noted that as high as bushels per acre are recorded for selected fields. In speaking of farm averages from 25 to 30 bushels the rule is that these are the best—the poorer yields are not published. In the prairie provinces there are fields which will not average over 15 bushels to the acre, while in Franklin and Springfield settlements the averages are from 25 to 30. For the whole district the yield will not exceed 20,

SMALL FOX IN OTTAWA.

Ottawa Oct. 18.—A small fox, said to be a female, was captured in the Ottawa bush authorities since Sunday last! This is not reassuring; but there is this relief, the disease continues of a mild type. Should it assume, as it may with the approach of winter, a more malignant form, it would inevitably prejudicially affect the commercial interests of the capital.

C. P. R. PATENTS.

The question of the taxation of the C. P. R. lands, is in a fair way, of being brought to a head. Patents are now being rapidly issued to the company. Over 700 patents representing over 2,000,000 acres of land in North Alberta have been received at the Edmonton registry office within the past three months, and more are coming all the time. The patents are issued by townships, all the land owned by the company in a township being included in a single patent. The patents thus vary from a single quarter section to ten thousand acres. The Edmonton registration district extends southwardly to Innisfail so that the patents placed here for registration are only for lands north of that point.

As the C. P. R. was commenced in 1881 and completed in 1886, the question is very naturally asked: How is it that the lands earned and owned by the company at least since those dates were not patented to them long ago? Like many other questions this is more easily asked than answered. From the moment the charter under which the company owned the land was granted they have exercised all the privileges of ownership without its responsibilities. The land was promptly mortgaged by the company, a portion was sold back to the government, other portions were sold to land companies or to private individuals and the cash placed in the company's coffers, and all this without the patent for a single acre having been issued to the company. Of course this could only be by an arrangement or understanding between the company and the government. Certainly it saved the government the labor of issuing so many patents. And it was convenient for the company in that they had ample time to exercise their right of selection. But there was more, it was a mere matter of convenience. The company enjoyed an exemption tax on their lands for twenty years "after the grant, thereof from the crown." When the charter and the lands were granted in 1881 and for many years afterwards, the public supposed that this exemption expired twenty years from the day upon which the charter became law,—that is on the 15th of February last. Some few years ago they were astonished to learn from certain discussions which took place in the house of commons that the contention was held on behalf of the company that the words "grant from the crown" meant "issue of patent" and therefore that in the view of the company the exemption would not expire until twenty years after the patents had been issued. Clearly this was the main reason for the non-issue of the patents.

Up to that time no patents had been issued, and therefore if the contention of the company was correct the exemption from taxation was indefinitely extended. At once the position became acute. This acuteness was intensified by the expiry on the 15th of February last of the term of twenty years from the granting of the charter. Those who held, as the majority of the people of the West do, that the exemption expired then were still unable to attempt to tax the land held by the C. P. R. in school and state land districts, as it could not be assessed to the company until it was patented. With the patenting of the land the question of the date of termination of the exemption comes up at once for decision.

It is to be expected that the Northwest government will take up the question and bring it to an early conclusion. It would be unreasonable to expect a single school or local improvement district to attack the C. P. R. in court. Possibly the Dominion government in pursuance of the resolution of parliament at its last session will take a test case before the courts. But the Dominion government has only a secondary interest in the immediate termination of the exemption. The Northwest government, representing only the people of the Northwest and being responsible to them for the school and local improvement taxation, is the proper party to take up the matter, particularly in view of their previous success in somewhat similar cases.

A strange case is the recent finding of the remains of a man by some boys playing in Kilborn near Winnipeg. The coroner who examined the body considered that the man had been dead two years and that it was a case of suicide. He ordered the remains to be buried without an inquest. That coroner certainly cannot be accused of improperly holding inquests, but he may very well be accused of improperly failing to hold one. If it can be established that the man was the victim of his own murderous instincts in stead of another's it should be done. If it was suicide the case is closed, but if murder the murderer is still at large with a successful escape to his credit. The coroner should not be looking for fees, but he is the officer to whom the public looks first for the seeking out of the greatest crimes.

SMALL FOX.

From many points of Eastern Canada and the Northwest come reports of a re-appearance of the small pox outbreak of last winter and spring. Fortunately the disease is of the same mild form as last winter. But small pox is a winter disease, and winter is more prevalent and virulent in winter than in summer. Last winter's outbreak did not commence until late in the season, and with the advent of spring the disease disappeared. No doubt the fact that the disease had not run a long course before spring arrived had much to do with its remaining of a mild type. The outbreak of the disease at so many points so early in the present fall gives every prospect of its continuance all winter; with a greater prospect of its becoming virulent before spring arrives than was the case last winter.

We are face to face with the enemy and the only thing to be done is to fight it intelligently. It is to be hoped that the efforts at concealment of individual cases which occurred last winter will not be repeated. Every person should realize the common danger from spread of the infection. The less it spreads the less likely it is to assume a virulent form. The more it spreads the more likely it is to do so. And once it becomes virulent medical skill is of little avail. This is above all others a case in which an ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure. To prevent the spread of the infection by every means possible is the duty of every citizen. To treat it lightly is foolish and dangerous to the last degree; for no one can tell how soon it may assume the more severe form.

The fact that the disease dies out or is easily held in check during the summer season gives the best indication of the means to prevent its spread in winter. There is no doubt that the free circulation of air through dwellings in the summer is the reason the disease does not spread so freely in that season. Absolute cleanliness of houses and person in winter offers the only possible substitute for the free circulation of air in summer. To this should be added the use of quick lime or other disinfectants, and universal and repeated vaccination. There is no doubt that small pox is strictly a preventable disease. It is then a duty which each citizen owes to the community to take every means to prevent its spread.

During last winter's outbreak there was a very general tendency on the part of communities as well as of individuals to conceal the facts. No doubt this unfortunate attitude has had a great deal to do with the general reappearance of the disease. It is a hopeful sign that a different view appears to be taken now. The Ottawa papers especially deserve great credit for the manner in which they state the facts regarding the disease therewith a view to securing proper measures to prevent its spread. They argue that concealment of the facts will not only not lessen the injury done by the disease, but by aiding its spread will increase the injury. The only safety to the community is in publicity to the non-issue of the patents.

Up to that time no patents had been issued, and therefore if the contention of the company was correct the exemption from taxation was indefinitely extended. At once the position became acute. This acuteness was intensified by the expiry on the 15th of February last of the term of twenty years from the granting of the charter. Those who held, as the majority of the people of the West do, that the exemption expired then were still unable to attempt to tax the land held by the C. P. R. in school and state land districts, as it could not be assessed to the company until it was patented. With the patenting of the land the question of the date of termination of the exemption comes up at once for decision.

It is to be expected that the Northwest government will take up the question and bring it to an early conclusion. It would be unreasonable to expect a single school or local improvement district to attack the C. P. R. in court. Possibly the Dominion government in pursuance of the resolution of parliament at its last session will take a test case before the courts. But the Dominion government has only a secondary interest in the immediate termination of the exemption. The Northwest government, representing only the people of the Northwest and being responsible to them for the school and local improvement taxation, is the proper party to take up the matter, particularly in view of their previous success in somewhat similar cases.

A strange case is the recent finding of the remains of a man by some boys playing in Kilborn near Winnipeg. very large pink apple. Is laid down for winter.

Several nursery roses are also growing and have survived the winter by being laid down, but so far have not bloomed strongly.

Several lilac bushes have reached a height of between three and four feet. These are various varieties. They are growing fairly strong but not tall. They flower fairly well, but are scarcely old enough yet to have come into flower.

A sweet briar bush is hardy and bears fruit well.

A small tea plant, which carries a small purple blossom, grows very well, but is laid down every winter.

The hens are very fond of the leaves of the plant as far as they can reach.

Black, red and white currants grow well and bear fruit well and are hardy without being laid down for winter.

A so-called tea plant, which carries a small purple blossom, grows very well, but is laid down every winter. The hens are very fond of the leaves of the plant as far as they can reach.

Three bushes of the Rocky Mountain cherry have lived through several winters but have not yet fruited this year. Only a few very cherries have dropped, but the tree is still very healthy, but has not grown large.

They are laid down for winter.

Indian corn of the dwarf Manitoba variety has been grown and ripened every year for the past nine years, and has grown well, but the situation is particularly favorable for the corn.

It is worthy of mention that the winter in which there is no snow is the one in which fruit and flowering bushes are most apt to suffer damage.

SPRUCE GROVE.

Most of the grain is stacked and some are threshing. The grain is turning out splendidly.

Mrs. Washburn and Abbott and the Misses Miller visited White Horse lake people last week.

Another new settler from Dakota has arrived and is moving out. Mrs. Macmillan's property.

Simon Witmer has been making some improvements on his house. He has veneered it with boards and painted it. He has a complete eastern style of a house now.

The Rev. Mr. Fletcher from Sturgis will preach and conduct communion services on the Stony Plain mission next Sunday.

NORTH STURGEON.

Weather dry and windy, excellent for drying both shocked and stacked grain.

Mrs. Studebaker, of Edmonton, and Mrs. Vanbuskirk, of Sunnyside, are visiting their mother, Mrs. Sims.

Mrs. Veresen will start threshing Tuesday of this week. Threshing bands and mowers in demand.

Mr. McKittrick, farmer, teacher, etc., started threshing last Saturday with quite a gang of men and teams. Left Sunday for Edmonton.

Rev. Mr. Carson, a visiting minister, will speak at Excelsior, in the Methodist church, at 8 p.m. from last Sunday. There will likely be a full church as he is an eloquent speaker.

Game is quite plentiful, and the sportsman has great practice.

BEAVER LAKE EAST.

Threshing is going on. The grain is yielding well, but the wheat is not No. 1 hard. The new machine is doing good work. Oats are very good quality.

The statement from Redfield re a change of mail route, would seem to indicate that for that office and Northern the Bittern lake route is better than the one from the Fort. The present mail carrier is (apparently) trying to sticken the rest of us also on the latter.

Alex. McAllister contemplates removing to Fernie for a time. We wish him good luck and a safe return.

This season, despite its peculiarities, has been unsatisfactory to our residents. The yield of grain will be large, but crops are good, and there is plenty of feed for cattle, etc.

Oct. 10, '01.

WETASKIWIN.

New oats are selling at 20¢ to 25¢. Mr. C. M. Bernhard and Mr. G. Keeble were in town on Tuesday.

The new railway time card came in to force on Sunday, the 13th.

Richard Hawkin has sold his celebrated trotting stallion to Fred Sullivan.

Mrs. Niels Schmidt is about to light a new store on his vacant lot on Ralway street.

E. F. Jacobs has sold his interest in the Peacock stable to Fred Sullivan.

The collection of Wetaskiwin today is stated to be just over 600 and still growing.

Five of our village residents immortalized themselves by voting against incorporation on Monday evening.

A considerable quantity of oats, &c., which have been laid by the snow have been received in good shape during the last week.

Mr. Adam Keiser, who had nearly acres in crop, has been busy threshing from the stock and hauling in the grain to the elevator.

Mr. L. L. Dickson, responded to the inquiry of Mr. Dickson's and Mr. Faris' land which is now divided into building lots, several of which have been already disposed of.

On Tuesday morning an unbroken horse belonging to Messrs. Nummally & Fraser, while being led up town, became restive and reared, falling backward and breaking its neck.

Dr. Baldwin returned on Saturday from his annual trip and announced his intention of resuming the practice of his profession here, much to the satisfaction of his numerous friends.

Capt. O'Brien is now occupying as a law office, the building on Peacock street lately in the possession of Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Hayes having moved into Mr. W. A. Montgomery's late residence.

Smokers and travellers will do well to exercise special care at the present time, as there is a general scarcity of tobacco, effects from Lake County, South Dakota's. The parties in possession of them are L. W. Wing and Mr. and Mrs. Dan Coulter and Harvey Courter.

We had quite a heavy rain during Monday night and Tuesday morning. Old settlers say a rain at this season is an unusual occurrence. Tuesday afternoon the sun came out and we are again enjoying our fine weather.

Mr. Lester Street and daughter, Miss May, are due to London's vicinity. Mrs. Stretch took down a quantity of her cheese for which she found ready sale. She has manufactured a considerable quantity of cheese during the past season which is of fine quality and commands a good price.

RED DEER FALL FAIR.

Alberton, Oct. 12.—Immigration Agent Winn, who acted as judge for grain, roots and vegetables at the Red Deer fall fair, held on the 8th and 9th inst., reports as follows:

Going the disagreeable weather on the coming of the 8th the roads were not so large as they would have been, had good weather prevailed. Winn was excited, however, over really of first class nature.

There was a splendid show of prime beef cattle. Amongst the exhibitors worthy of commendation was H. Raikes of Pine Lake, who brought in a pair of steers, 16 months old, weighing 1,000 lbs. each, and two heifers, and also two pairs of Shropshire Dwarfs.

The horses were of a good class, although the exhibit was small.

The lateness of the season accounts for the small show of grain, but still there was some excellent two-rowed barley, and some oats, grown principally on the farms owned by A. P. Olsen, situated on section 6, (pp. 28, 29, west of 5th, meridian).

The roots made a good show, and first class quality. The potatoes were good, and some fine specimens of cup root, including a variety called "Winn" brought to town a fine sample of grain in sheaf. He also displayed some Alsike clover, 5 feet in length, which may be said to be the best he has ever seen.

The facts are these: A few weeks ago T. Gunville ran across the miners on the banks of the Shell river, about a mile from the point where that stream empties into the Saskatchewan, five miles from Prince Albert. He communicated his discovery to Mr. G. R. Russell, who last week started for the find, which consists of a deposit of iron ore about four feet in thickness in the river bank. Mr. Russell, with his companion, worked for about half a day, digging into the face of the mineral, and found the iron ore in great quantities greatly.

FROM THE JASPER HOUSE.

R. Reiling, trader of the Jasper House, who is in town, speaks very highly of the country in the valley of the Athabasca just east of the mountains for trapping purposes. Mr. Reiling's post is at Prairie Creek, on the Athabasca. Some distance down the river from his old stage house comes the murder of the half-breed McAuley by a white man a couple of years ago on the British Columbia side of the mountain, and the subsequent arrival of the murderer by a British Columbia jury, the relatives of the dead man have expressed their intention of revenging his death. Swift, an American trapper, is reported to be the old house. In the Jasper Park is raising wheat, oats, barley and potatos for irrigation. He had about five acres of very good wheat this season. He has a large fleet of carts, the place being back some pigs and hogs. Both pigs and poultry will have to be packed on horses backs for some 25 miles.

COAL AT PRINCE ALBERT.

Advocate.

Prince Albert was thrown into a state of excitement on Wednesday last by the news that a seam of coal had been discovered near town, and several citizens started out to the vicinity of the find, to see what there was in it.

TOWN COUNCIL

The regular session of the town council was held Wednesday. Councilors Morris and Brown were absent. The following communications were read:

Andlair T. A. Stephen, stating that he had examined the town's books and advised statement. Filed.

Willis Chipman, waterworks engineer, acknowledging receipt of A. D. Chipman's letter and plan of levels of town for water works purposes. Mr. Chipman stated that his work was completed and it was ready by the end of the month. He had completed the waterworks project for the town but was unable to send with the sewage report. He asked for further information as to levels, and as this would entail more work on the part of the engineer than was contemplated when arrangement was made with Mr. Macmillan, it was referred to Council to arrange for the same.

Montreal Company, asking to supply waterworks pipe. Filed.

Merryweather & Sons, Greenwich, London, asking for chance to do business in town and supply their machinery and pipes. Filed.

Brown & Rossiter stating that some men who had written the town concerning claim of their client, P. M. Parker, for compensation for damages resulting from a fall of a tree, were given a walk last winter. Not having been able to reply they had issued a notice against the town but had not received it yet as there was no answer. He said that while there was no possibility of an amicable settlement, he would remain at the office of Henry Lee the secretary.

Henry Lee the secretary was instructed to notify Messrs. Sweeny & Robertson that the latter acknowledged no liability in the matter.

A telegram was read from W. H. Moore, solicitor for Mackenzie & Mann, in answer to one sent by the town asking for an account of delay in signing the railway agreement.

Mr. Moore said "Expect to have all parties excepted agreement next few days." The telegram was filed.

C. W. Macmillan, photographing, addressed a communication bringing before him a project which he had in view of getting out an illustrated souvenir pamphlet containing views of the country. He said "The government would like to see what the council would do if the project was carried out. In the whole edition a two-page write-up of the district. The proposed position was favorable and the matter was laid on the table until next meeting pending further consideration. It was suggested that copies of the new issue pamphlet be distributed at the school picnic contributed $14, a fact that was overlooked in our report of the picnic."

TENDERS FOR FLOUR.

AGRICOLA.

After a silence of a couple of weeks, we again make our appearance just to remind our readers that we are still to the front and doing business as usual. There has been nothing noteworthy to record in our last issues. Men and things have been pursuing the even tenor of their way. Everybody has been engaged in the meritorious employment of "Pat yourself along your business," and we don't know as we have any excuse for obtruding ourselves upon your readers, save perhaps to satisfy the expectations of our Clover Leaf friends, who have written press stories to have discovered something alarming. Sometimes we are tempted to forswear journalism altogether, and leave it to those who are not ever so much better themselves until then.

We experience great difficulty in getting the right word in the right place.

While at work at J. L. Porte's on Thursday, we saw a car from the engine, two or three wheels off. Had it not been for the ability of Robert Toomey in now 'n' the earth dug away from the wheels of the separator, it could not have been saved. We thank him.

Alex. Adamson, who returned from Dawson, paid his mother and brothers a short visit ere his departure to his home in Wisconsin.

Tom Cunnison returned from Alaska, week ago, with pockets laden with the coveted metal.

We hear that the German boy who was hurt at J. Toomey's is on a fair way to recovery. He was removed to the hospital at Edmonton.

The majority of "In Breeding" machine used by cyclone blowers. This is a great concern for blowers.

In looking over the Bulletin's report of the donations to the public hospital we noted Agricola school picnic contributed $14, a fact that was overlooked in our report of the picnic.

Commercial, Oct. 12.

At end of last week the price of 1 bushel was at $3.10 to $3.65 in store.

Fort William: It has fluctuated between 65c and 68c, until yesterday it was up to 70c to 74c. 2 northern has gone from 63c to 66c to 70c.

2nd to 64c to 53c, and 3rd northern, 57c, all in store.

For William, tough wheat is now coming forward, truly, but there are few buyers for it.

There are few buyers for 1 northern and 57c to 4c for tough 2 northern all in store King's. There is also some damp and wet wheat bringing the inquiry, but so far we have not been able to find buyers for these grades as there are no buyers yet. Tough and wet wheat will undoubtedly have to be dried before buyers will take them.

Country wheat—The marketing of wheat is delayed by wet weather and bad roads.

Buyers demand that the quality of offerings has also suffered, and for good reason.

At present we are about the same as week ago, but as there is a good deal of low grade stuff offering we note a wider range.

All the way from 40 to 55c per bushel is being paid for farmers per bushel, depending according to quality and rate of freight.

Oats—Oats are scarce and prices hold at about the figures we quoted a week ago. There is a demand for all grades.

We quote no 30c to 32c per bushel for car lots on track at Winnipeg. At country points 24c to 26c per bushel is being paid.

Barley—Receipts are light as yet and prices remain the same as
